Extra Virgin Olive oil Tradition

More than any other Greek product, extra virgin olive oil has become synonymous not only with the Greek tradition but also with the Greek nutritional habits and culture. The Hellenes have always considered the olive tree to be sacred, since antiquity. Ever since - according to the myth - Athena, goddess of wisdom, offered to the citizens of Athens - the city that's been named after her- the olive tree as well as the know-how for its growing cultivation. By that time, the olive tree is considered to be:

...a symbol of peace and victory,
a source of good health and longevity,
a symbol of divine protection, faith, hope and love,
a sacred gift of inspiration and creation...

Olives have their roots not only deep into the Greek soil but also into Greece's soul. Greek extra virgin olive oil is one of the best in the world. Olives have found in Greece their favorite place. Every drop of Greek extra virgin olive oil is distilled knowledge and wisdom.

Extra Virgin Olive oil and Health

When it comes to choosing what type of fats is better to consume, extra virgin olive oil is a healthy choice. Mainly it contains monounsaturated fat - a "healthy" type of fat - that can lower the risk of heart disease by reducing the total and low-density lipoprotein (LDL) or "bad" cholesterol levels in blood while leaves intact the High-density lipoprotein (HDL) or "good" cholesterol levels.

On closer examination, this ancient liquid has proved to be more. Its health protective antioxidants, polyphenols, fight stress and aging-related diseases like high blood pressure not to mention the improvement of the function of arteries.

Extra Virgin Olive oil constitutes indisputably the very essence of health!

Extra Virgin Olive oil esti...good life!

The Koroneiki variety

The Koroneiki olives variety was named after the historic town of Koroni, in the Messinia region of the Peloponnese. Its fruit, ripens between November and December producing olive oil of the highest quality. Its organoleptic characteristics have ranked it in the extra virgin category of olive oils which is characterized by certain special features:

...exceptionally low acidity,
a deep, bright green color, with a bittersweet taste,
a smooth taste feeling of various fruits with a predominant apple taste...

What separates the fruits and olive oil produced from Koroneiki variety - which grows only in Greece and especially in the regions of Kalamata and Sitia Crete - olive trees is their unique method of cultivation. Unlike many other varieties, these trees have no artificial additives interventions not to mention that they are pruned intensively once a year to keep them small in size. The mere 3 to 5 liters of the green gold liquid that is produced from a Koroneiki olive tree proves the obvious. Quantity is sacrificed in favor of quality.

Mediterranean Diet

Mediterranean diet's virtues have been repeatedly praised by all expert nutritionists.

Extra Virgin Olive oil constitutes the very essence of this type of diet.

Mediterranean diet is also associated with sensible portions and slower eating.

People who follow this nutritional recommendation, have been characterized by a remarkable variety of health benefits, such as the drastic reductions in incidences of heart disease and different types of cancer, not to mention their immune systems' boost and the facilitation of their bowel functions.

The company – History

Olive growing in Greece, started mostly on small family estates, where a particular relationship is built between the olive growers and the olive trees, with respect and care as predominant features. It is a loving relationship that bears precious fruits.

Thus begins the history of our company, established by the Plemmenos brothers, in 1912, in Kalamata, a town of the Peloponnesse region in southern Greece, where the highest quality of olive oil is produced since ancient times.

By 1950, Plemmenos family dream of expanding the business to Athens came true. The new warehouse in Athens was supplied with olive oil directly from the family mill in Kalamata.

This expansion helped the company to start selling its products to new markets. By 1960, Plemmenos olive oil became world famous thanks to exports to all five continents. In 2009, our company was acquired by IFANTIS GROUP, a leading Greek food-group. The new brand “esti” was successfully introduced in 2010. Since 2010, “esti” has grown into an international brand sold in more than 20 countries. Esti product range includes Olives, spreads and more, in addition to a broad range of extra virgin olive oils. In 2013 the company acquired ROI SA, a Greek Olives company, leader in the domestic market. In 2014, the two companies were merged creating the new company Lelia Foods SA.

P.D.O. (Protected Designation of Origin)

A Protected Designation of Origin (PDO) is part of the Protected Geographical Status system in the European Union (EU). This framework is designed to protect the integrity of European food and drink by carefully legislating the labeling of certain European products.

When something is given a Protected Designation of Origin, it means that only items produced in a specific area in a particular way may bear that label in the European market. For example, Kalamata Olive Oil has a PDO label, meaning that extra virgin olive oil produced in a specific style in the Greek region of Kalamata may be labeled as "PDO KALAMATA Extra Virgin Olive Oil"
